Narrative Summary

Aerospace Education

The Southeast Region Aerospace Education mission continues to educate our cadet and seniors on aerospace education and to reach out to the public through public and private education at all levels. The SER has a leadership position in aerospace education through the quality of our existing program and our efforts to improve AE at both a region and national level.

SER established and helped staff the National Aerospace Officers School held each June 15-19, 2015 in Florida. That school is now in its 15th year and has trained hundreds of AE officers in all areas of AE. SER DCS and AE staff help with this school and help staff it.

The SER has achieved the top scores in aerospace education at wing level in the nation for most years in the last 12 years with Florida Wing leading the nation most years.

The SER has one of the few college graduate level aerospace education teachers workshops with the University of Tennessee's AE Teacher Workshop now in its 21 year. That workshop is staffed by CAP AEO's and is serving as an example of a college credit AE workshop for the nation.

Cadet Programs

The Region Cadet Programs Directorate continues to focus on raising the standard for the Region Cadet Leadership School. In 2014 3 RCLS's were conducted (Tennessee June 2014, Florida August 2014 and Puerto Rico July 2014).

Narrative Summary

The server has been migrated to an updated system. This upgrade included moving from a quad core to an eight core system. With this upgrade, data and code had to be moved over in a migration process. This migration process allowed the expansion and reorganization of server files. For example, web content is now on a separate drive from database content. These are technical updates that in short will speed up the responsiveness of the sites as user traffic increases. This migration was a large undertaking requiring several months of coordination between the server provider and IT staff to insure a near seamless transition.

The Southeast Region website has been updated. This update includes the latest web interface technologies utilizing responsive design features. These design features allow users to use the site on a desktop computer, tablet, or cell phone while maintaining the message and integrity of the site. Features and presentation has been coordinated with A6PA.

The Southeast Region History and Archives website has been updated. This site required many major backend changes to allow for seamless responsive design features. Students attending the Southeast Region Staff College now have available to them a site that will allow them to research matters of the Civil Air Patrol in a means to further understand and appreciate the organization. The site also allows for a repository of information that can be reviewed as a matter of interest, preservation, decision making, and accountability. Material continues to be moved over. Col Mulanax, AIH, has been briefed on the new site.

CHAPTER VII SPECIAL STAFF

A. SER Chaplaincy Corps

SER Hq Chaplain

SER Deputy Hq Chaplain

SER College Chaplain

Advisor to SER Chaplaincy

Lt Col Jim Howell

Lt Col Marcus Taylor

Lt Col David Lefavor

Lt Col Oscar Cope

Narrative Summary

The Southeast Region Chaplains' Corps had a very successful year in 2014. The Chaplain Corps Region Staff College was held at Moody AFB, GA 19-22 May under the leadership of Southeast Region Deputy Head Chaplain, Lt Col, Marcus Taylor, who served as Director. Participants included Chaplains and Character Development Instructors from throughout the SER CAP.

Former Civil Air Patrol's Southeast Region Commander, Col, James Rushing, led the college in a table top exercise involving the use of CAP Chaplains in a real world hurricane scenario that tested the resources and skill sets of our Southeast Region Chaplains. We learned quickly that we don't have enough Chaplains to provide the support needed for such an extensive operation. We discovered that we don't have nearly enough Mission Chaplains available to carry out the work required to support a major multi-state disaster and the use of Character Development Instructors as support staff in these type of disasters still has to be worked out.

In June the Southeast Region Chaplaincy was invited to participate in a multi-region disaster scenario based out of Dobbins ARB, GA. Chaplains worked with the Middle East Region and the Great Lakes Region to provide chaplaincy coverage for a hurricane event that spanned an area that covered Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, South Carolina, and Kentucky. The previous table-top scenario at the 2014 Southeast Region Chaplain Corps Region Staff College prepared region chaplains for this event, and it proved that we lacked the number of trained Mission Chaplains to deal effectively with mass-level crises. However, with the limited number of Mission Chaplains available, the results were outstanding. SER chaplains were complimented for the professional manner in which they carried out the very demanding aspects of their work.
